Allowed to finish thinking on its own, the model mostly protects the main instruction rather than satisfying both — and with the semicolon it often satisfies neither